SAUL GRAY-HILDENBRAND

“The exploration of materials, language and ideas through the lens of the contemporary American experience describes very generally my work. I see my process as a set of non-scientific experiments, more akin to Duchamp’s idea of play than rigorous constant and variable equations.”

Saul works in a variety of media from oil painting to installation. His work is influenced by folk, modern and contemporary art. Saul's paintings, drawings, and sculptures are a reaction to the world around him – sometimes mundane, sometimes ironic and sometimes absurd with a sprinkling of dark humor and joyful misanthropy.
